City manager names new West Sac police chief

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

City hall announced last week that it has chosen Gary Leonard, a 20-year veteran of the San Jose Police Dept. (where he achieved the rank of captain), as the new chief of police for West Sacramento.

Leonard replaces Larry Gore, who retired after six years of service this summer.

Leonard has served as police chief of Grand Junction, Colorado, as well as Alexandria, Virginia and Sandy, Utah. Most recently, he served as interim chief of Greenfield, California.

"Chief Leonard brings a great depth of practical experience and expertise to West Sacramento," said city manager Joe Goeden in a press release Friday. "Although we had several excellent candidates contending for the job, Chief Leonard had the right combination of experience and professional qualities."

Leonard told the News-Ledger that he expects to keep the local police department moving on its current track.

"Everything I know about Chief Gore and his staff is that he's done a good job in his tenure," said Leonard. "I expect to be moving it further in the same direction. I'll be very active in the department and the community."

Leonard, 60, has already bought a house in West Sacramento. He is married with two grown children.

Since Gore's retirement, the department has been run by Deputy Chief Tom Hoffman, who was also a candidate for the top spot.

"I was and am proud to be a West Sacramento cop and proud to be a deputy chief," commented Hoffman on Leonard's selection for the job. "I did want to be chief, but Mr. Leonard has an excellent resume and experience that is impressive."

Hoffman commented that his current plans are to continue serving in the deputy chief's capacity.

Hoffman said the department currently has 61 sworn officer positions, 56 of which are filled, as well as about 20 non-sworn positions and 32 "volunteers in policing."

Chief Leonard is expected to assume his duties on Oct. 27.

The police chief position is the city's fifth-highest compensated post, following the city manager, assistant city manager, director of public works and director of community development. The position includes a salary range of $71,076 to $86,772 annually.

ABOUT TOWN:

A family tradition continues

By Daryl Fisher
Features Editor

Luis "Lou" Macias grew up in Tucumcari, New Mexico and that is where his wife of 50 years, Adelina, met him.

"Luis was different from all the other boys," recalled Adelina. "He had ambition and drive and he didn't mind hard work. I knew right away that he would make something of his life. Plus it didn't hurt that he was also very good looking."

While he was going to school, Luis worked as a projectionist in the local movie theater.

"That was a great job," remembered Luis, "but I knew there wasn't much of a future in it, so a few years after I got out of school I went to work with three of my uncles in the cement finishing business. The work was a lot harder than sitting around in a movie house, but I got to travel a lot and I ended up really loving that job, too."

Always on the lookout for a new challenge, in 1957 Luis moved to Sacramento and decided to give the jewelry business a try.

"I worked as an apprentice for ten years at Werner Wholesale Jewelers on 15th and I streets," explained Luis, "and I learned by watching and doing. The hours were long, but the work was always interesting and I picked up things pretty fast. To be a good jeweler you have to stay up with all the new ways of doing your job. Things are always changing and you have to really enjoy those kinds of challenges if you want to succeed in the jewelry business."

LUIS & ADELINA MACIAS

In 1967 Luis decided to open up his own jewelry business on Merkley Avenue in West Sacramento

"We called it Crest Jewelers," said Luis, "and if I had known how hard it was going to be at first, I might have had second thoughts. We weren't able to purchase a lot of product at first and we had half of a shoe-string budget, but the business kept slowly growing and before long we were doing very well."

While Luis was working 15 to 18 hours a day, Adelina was at home taking care of their six children.

"West Sacramento turned out to be a great place to raise the children," said Adelina. "The schools were very good and there was always lots of other young people for my children to play with. I really enjoyed staying at home with the children. That was where I was needed and it was a joy to be with them."

Luis is now semi-retired and Crest Jewelers, which is presently located at 1296 West Capitol Avenue, is in the competent hands of two of Luis's sons, Steven and Chris.

"I learned the jewelry business pretty much the same way my father did," said Steven, "by watching and doing. When I was very young, I always enjoyed being at the jewelry store and I still do. Although we continue to serve people who have shopped here for decades, we also get new customers every single day and it's fun to be part of a family business that has been going strong for over 30 years."

In addition to creating their own custom-made jewelry, Crest Jewelers also does watch and ring repair and just about everything else one might expect to find in a jewelry store many times its size.

"We've always been very proud of the work we do here," said Luis. "It took more guts than brains to get it started, but God was good to me."

Luis used to do a lot of hunting and fishing, but now most of his spare time is spent golfing. He is also a member of West Sacramento's Moose Lodge, the Riverbend Golf Club, and the Sacramento Hispanic Chamber of Commerce.

In addition to Steven and Chris, Luis and Adelina have four other children; Ramona, Carolyn, Corina, and Rose. They lost another child, Ruth, when she was only an infant.

Luis and Adelina also have 13 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

City/Port bridge negotiations:

Council okays port resolution, adjusts wording on funding

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

The West Sacramento City Council last Wednesday approved a resolution which was part of a deal with the Port of Sacramento.

The resolution, already approved by the port commission, would allow West Sacramento to build a relatively cheap "at-grade" bridge next to the existing bridge at Jefferson Blvd. and Stone Lock. This low-level bridge would effectively shut down future commercial use of the lock – but the city has agreed not to stand in the way of replacing the at-grade bridge with a different kind should eventual commercial use of the waterway prove feasible for the port.

Councilman Bill Kristoff reports that the city council gave the resolution a minor "tweaking," however, regarding the issue of who would pay to replace the bridge in the future.

"We wanted to make sure the city wasn't going to pay, and we strengthened that language quite a bit," said Kristoff.

If the port agrees, the city hopes to enlist Congressman Doug Ose's help to authorize the low level bridge. Stone Lock is controlled by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Losoya named to probation post

The Yolo County Board of Supervisors has named Melton Losoya as County Probation Officer, replacing the retiring Dean Alderman.

Losoya has been an assistant county probation officer for ten years and was selected after a statewide search.

"Mel brings a wealth of criminal justice experience with him to this post," said County Administrative Officer Vic Singh in a press release. "And he has a proven track record in developing partnerships that can improve and streamline service delivery. He will serve the county and community well as our newest department head."

Losoya is the current mayor of Woodland. He serves as chair of the Northern Region Assistant Chief Probation Officer Association and as a member of a Yolo gang task force and as a juvenile traffic hearing officer.

Suspects sought:

No serious injury in shooting

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Lt. Dave Farmer of the West Sacramento Police Dept. reports that Sunday evening at about 7 p.m., two local 23-year old men got into an argument with two other men at an Evergreen Ave.-area apartment complex. The argument then turned into a fight, which broke up without injury.

The victims then got on their bikes to go to a local video store, they report, when a light blue Honda car carrying the two suspects along with a driver cut them off near Pine and Evergreen.

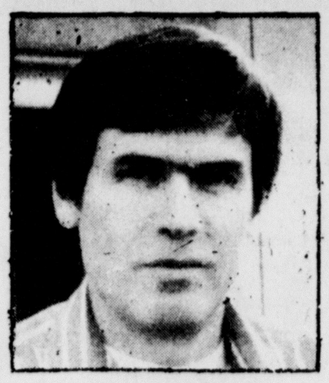
"The driver and front passenger got out of the vehicle, and the driver asked the passenger, 'Where's it at?' " reported Farmer. The victims abandoned their bikes and began to run, and one of the three fired about five or six shots from a handgun at them.

A possible ricochet grazed one suspect's arm.

Detailed descriptions of the suspects were not immediately available.

Are you -- unlike me -- prepared for the Y2K problem?

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

Every since I can remember, there's been a part of my poor brain that simply doesn't kick in when people start talking about mathematics and technology, so when a friend of mine recently asked me what I was doing to prepare for "Y2K", I tried to play it off by quickly changing the subject.

"So," I asked, "who do you think is going to make it to the World Series this year?"

"You haven't done a single darn thing to prepare yourself for Y2K, have you?" he asked, obviously disappointed with me.

"To tell you the truth," I admitted, "I'm not even all that sure that I actually know what it is. It has to do with computers, right?"

Aghast that I didn't even know what all the fuss was about, my friend strongly suggested that I march myself right over to the library and pick up some free Y2K literature they were apparently making available there. But correctly sensing that I would probably never undertake such a time-consuming task, he suddenly whipped out a flyer he was carrying around on the subject and shoved it into one of my hands.

"Here," he said, slowly shaking his head from side to side, "at least take the time to read that. For heaven's sake, Y2K is only a couple of months away!"

Later that evening, after I had gleefully watched the Braves beat the Mets for the third straight time in their best of seven game National League Championship Series, I decided to take a quick glance at the Y2K literature my friend had given me.

It was entitled "Y2K -- What You Should Know", and when I noticed that it had been produced by the American Red Cross, I decided I best give reading it a little more of my time than I had originally allocated.

I quickly learned that "The Y2K problem was created in the early days of computers, when memory in computers was scarce and expensive. Programmers took shortcuts whenever possible to save space and instead of using a four-digit code for year dates, a two-digit entry was used. This practice persisted, long after the need for saving space was eliminated, and when the year 2000 comes, many programs may not be able to distinguish between the years 2000 and 1900."

As I continued to read, I also discovered that the government is concentrating on problems that might arise in the following eight areas: Utilities and the national power grid; international banking and finance; health care; transportation; telecommunications; pension and mutual funds; emergency planning; and general business.

"Manufacturing and production industries may be disrupted," read the somewhat alarming flyer. "Roads may be closed or gridlocked if traffic signals are disrupted. Electronic credit card transactions may not be processed and telephone systems may not work."

The flyer even had a lengthy suggested personal checklist which included contacting manufactures to see if your fire and security alarm systems are going to work; checking programmable thermostats, appliances, consumer electronics, garage door openers, and other electronic equipment; stock disaster supplies to last several days to a week for yourself and those who live with you; store water and an ample supply of prescription and nonprescription medications; keep your automobile gas tank above half full; have extra blankets, coats, hats, and gloves to keep warm; have some extra cash or traveler's checks on hand; and maybe most important of all, think about withdrawing money from your bank well in advance of 12/31/99.

After I finished reading "Y2K -- What You Should Know", I decided that at the very least, I had better share everything I had just learned with my wife, who was getting ready to go on her nightly bicycle ride.

"You know," I said to my wife, who was busy lacing up her tennis shoes, "this Y2K stuff I've been reading about sounds like it could be pretty serious."

"It'll all be okay," she assured me as she stood up and headed out the front door.

"But some people are acting like it's going to be the end of the world," I said, following her out into the garage.

"Trust me, Daryl," she said as she got on her bicycle and began pedaling away, "the world is not going to come to an end because of Y2K."

"But don't you think we should at least take some of our savings out of the bank?" I called out after her.

"What savings?" she shouted back as she disappeared around the corner.

Ramping up for Jefferson Blvd. widening project

The City of West Sacramento public works department reports that plans for widening Jefferson Blvd. South of U.S. 50 to four lanes are moving along, with construction scheduled to begin in the fall of next year. Work will be done in three phases.

The first phase will consist of widening the boulevard between the freeway and Stone Blvd. From two to four lanes, with bike lanes, a center turn lane, new curb, gutter, sidewalk, storm drainage and a traffic signal at Stone. Caltrans is completing design work and will soon begin acquiring right of way and construction easements, although the project will generally occur in an existing 100-foot right of way.

Additional right of way will be sought near the intersection of existing streets with Jefferson. Widening will include undergrounding of power and communication lines.

The second phase, from Stone to north Linden Rd., will be done by the city at the same time or slightly after the first phase. The city is still working on obtaining permits for an at-grade bridge over the barge canal at Stone Lock.

Planned improvements include an additional northbound acceleration lane between North Linden and Lake Washington Blvd., and signal improvements to provide a double left urn lane on North Linden Rd. eastbound onto Jefferson. A signalized intersection at Jefferson and Devon will be built soon as part of the Gateway subdivision improvements.

Phase Three will be from north Linden Rd. to Marshall Rd. As part of Caltrans's 2001 project, this segment will receive repaving and full eight-foot paved shoulders. The Higgins and Marshall intersections will be upgraded as well.

When development south of Davis necessitates it, this segment will be widened to four lanes. Widening will generally occur within existing rights of way, the city reports, but some additional rights of way will

Sincerest thanks

Perhaps you sent a lovely card,
Or sat quietly in a chair
Perhaps you sent beautiful flowers,
If so we saw them there.
Perhaps you sent or spoke kind words
As any friend could say:
Perhaps you were not there at all
Just thought of us that day.
Whatever you did to console the heart,
We thank you so much, whatever the part.

The Bambino curse on the Boston Reds Sox lives on into the new millennium. The Yankees' pitching was just to good for the Red Sox hitters. The Yankees won two close games in New York, winning 4-3 and 3-2. The Red Sox managed to score 13 runs in game three to win but Yankees ended the dreams of the Boston fans by winning game 4 and 5 in Boston. The Yankees, who are the defending the 1998 champions, will be playing in their 36th World Series. Baseball fans have to admit that in game 3 and 4 in Boston there were a couple of weird calls by the umpires that changed the results of the game!

I wonder if there was a curse after all. Oh, well maybe the Mets can pull off the big upset in Atlanta and force a Subway Series in New York. The Braves looked like they were going to sweep the Mets in four games but the miracle Mets won game four 3-2 and then in the longest game in the National League Championship Series the Mets won 4-3 in 15 innings. The 5-hour, 46 minute marathon was a NLCS record. The Braves were 3 outs away from reaching the World Series for the first time since 1996 when, 1 for 18, Robin Ventura hit the longest single in NLCS records. Ventura actually hit a grand slam over the right field fence but he failed to touch second base during the game winning celebration and was credited with a single and the score was changed from 7-3 to 4-3. The Mets and Braves will travel back to Atlanta for game 6 and game 7 if necessary.

The Sacramento Kings (1-2) continue their long pre-season road trip on Wednesday against the Bulls in Chicago before they head back west to play in Portland on Saturday and in Vancouver on Sunday.

Boxing fans can see two great nights of boxing this weekend when HBO will televise Prince Hamed's WBC featherweight title bout on Friday night. The fight to watch on that card will be the Erik Morales vs Wayne McCullough 12 round bout for Morales WBC super bantamweight title. West Sacramento's Willie Jorrin, who is now rated No. 3 in the WBC, is in line to fight the winner. On Saturday night, Showtime will showcase Mike Tyson and Orlin Norris but the bout of the night will be the IBF's No. 1 rated fighter, Sacramento's Diego Corrales, fighting for Roberto Garcia's IBF junior lightweight title.

The 49ers' (3-3) 19-game, regular season winning streak at 3 Com Park took a terrible beating at the hands of ex-coach George Seifert and the Carolina Panthers. The Panthers torched the 49ers secondary for four touchdowns in their 31-29 win. Even though the 49ers defense was stinking up the field they had a chance to tie the game in the last seconds of the contest. The 49ers really missed Steve Young at quarterback as backup Jeff Garcia just couldn't get the job done. Next up for the 49ers in a travel date in Minnesota against the 2-4 Vikings. The Vikings, who benched Randall Cunningham in their 25-23 loss to the Lions, are having some quarterback problems of their own.

The Raiders (3-3) played a beautiful game in Buffalo beating the Bills 20-14. The Raiders ran the ball down Buffalo's throat as Tyrone Wheatley rushed for 97 yards and two touchdowns. The Raiders defense figured out how to stop Buffalo's QB Doug Flutie, who had won nine of their last 11 games at home and three in row this year. The six-point favorite Raiders will host the New York Jets (1-5) next Sunday. The game is not sold out so don't count on watching the game on TV.

Well my picks last week were about as good as the 49ers defense. I lost the Vikings game and the Chargers knocked off the Seahawks but I did win the Monday night contest with the Giants bring my season total to 7 wins, 8 losses. This season the parity in the NFL is just killing the office pools but this week I like Tampa Bay (-7 ½) over the visiting Bears and Raiders (-6) at home against the Jets. On Monday night take the Steelers (NL) at home against the Falcons.

See ya next week!!!!

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial

Three weeks ago, the News-Ledger criticized the WUSD school board for "stepping on a cow pie" when it hired a new River City High School principal without first giving the public proper notice on its meeting agenda. Doing so, the newspaper argued, the school board had violating the state's open meeting laws – again.

Last week, school board member Ardeene Westvik responded to that editorial by suggesting that the newspaper might instead be the party with one foot in cow product. She argued on this page that the News-Ledger was mistaken in some of its assertions.

Her writing was clear, thoughtfully argued and well intentioned. It's a shame to report that it was also very misguided.

Let's take a look at some of Mrs. Westvik's arguments:

"The editor stated that the. . . closed session agenda for September 23 listed only the subject of expulsion of three students. WRONG! The closed session agenda also included personnel recommendations relating to the employment of classified personnel. . ."

This is misleading. The posted agenda had only a reference to the expulsions. Mrs. Westvik confuses her agenda with her separate agenda report, which (as is the school district's habit) included a slew of vague personnel references, including "employment of classified personnel." These vague descriptions seem to be designed to be broad enough to allow the school board wide latitude in its closed-door discussions – a practice which violates the intent of the Brown Act. But since even the reference to "employment of classified personnel" was not included on the agenda itself on Sept. 23, the issue of "vagueness" is moot.

"Education code 54954.2 does require that brief agenda descriptions be provided and Ed. Code 54954.5 provides some formats. But it is important to note that the 'law does not require the use of these particular formats.' "

She refers to the California Government Code sections detailing the Brown Act..

No, these code sections don't require the use of particular formats. But why on earth does the board choose to ignore formats that would guarantee that it complies with state law? One of the sections Mrs. Westvik cites suggests that the agenda item describing the hiring of the high school principal should include a "description of the position to be filled." To include this would ensure "substantial compliance" with the law, it says.

Mrs. Westvik believes instead that the words "employment of classified personnel" are good enough to "describe" the hiring of a high school principal as required by the law. The News-Ledger disagrees -- and points out once again that even this vague description was not present on the posted agenda for Sept. 23, but was separated in an agenda report instead. So even if she's right, she's wrong.

"Board agendas are printed almost a week in advance since the change to Thursday meetings so additions are and will continue to be common place."

Then breaking the law is and will continue to be commonplace.

Common sense tells us that the public cannot remain adequately informed of the school board's business if the board takes such a cavalier attitude about following its own agenda.

If common sense isn't good enough, however, there's once again the law. Government Code Section 54954.2 states that "no action or discussion shall be undertaken on any item not appearing on the posted agenda." The board has no choice but to post its final agenda three days before the meeting. Although there is a provision for adding discussion items in emergencies, there is no provision for the board's convenience!

And it's worth noting that the West Sacramento City Council distributes its agendas the same day as the school board, for meetings which are one day earlier than the board's. City staff has none of the school district's chronic difficulty in complying with the law.

"It is not possible to place on an agenda something a parent wants to say to the board when we are not aware the parent is going to appear. Should we not listen to a concerned parent that wishes to speak with the board about their child?"

Sure you should, but law still applies! Put it on the agenda as you do with student expulsions, and you'll comply with the law. If it comes to the board too late for the agenda, it has to wait.

"I would even argue that the July incident regarding the hiring of an interim principal may not have been a violation of the Brown Act. . . No vote was taken. Unfortunately, there was an error in the press release. The board did appear to come to a consensus and that a vote would be taken (sic)at a future meeting as it was."

The News-Ledger's sources say that the school board's own attorney has given his opinion on the legality of that very meeting, and that his opinion is that the board acted illegally. Care to make the attorney's opinion public?

The board did not just "appear" to come to a consensus in that hiring, it did come to a consensus. Three board members and one assistant superintendent told the News-Ledger so, and the "mistaken" press release from the superintendent himself confirmed it. In fact, several officials afterwards defended the hiring by stressing that it was done by consensus and not by a vote!

The fact that "no vote was taken" is, of course, entirely irrelevant. When the law prohibits you from acting on an item which is not on your agenda, you can't act on it. Acting on it by five people nodding their heads is the same as acting on it by five people voting. (See Section 54952.6 on your Brown Act scorecard).

Mrs. Westvik refers to a later vote to hire the principal again; this vote occurred only after the News-Ledger reported that the first one was illegal. Presumably, the board's attorney advised the same. Mrs. Westvik appears to suggest that at its first meeting, the board merely agreed to hold a vote on the principal at a later meeting. Not so.

If Mrs. Westvik or any other board members would care to differ on any of these issues, they are of course invited to do so. But it appears evident that, even after all the discussion surrounding the Brown Act in recent months, she remains stubbornly out of touch with what the law requires of her.

Unfortunately, we've learned the same can be said for most of the school board and staff.

Teachers support bond

The Washington Teachers' Association is proud to support Measure R.

Working in the schools each day makes us keenly aware of the need for the kinds of improvements Measure R will fund. Every citizen in West Sacramento must ensure that our students have every advantage in the classroom to meet the needs of the 21st century.

The WTA was pleased to present Dr. Kelleher, Superintendent, with a check for $1,000 at Thursday evening's school board meeting in support of Measure R. Additionally, the association received word that its application for funding from CTA-PAC has been approved and that another $2,000 will be contributed.

The children of this community deserve the very best, and the passage of this bond measure will help bring each school site that much closer to being the best it can be.

Local Items

The Sacramento River registered 5 feet 6 inches U. S. gauge at the S. P. bridge yesterday. Last Saturday the gauge read 10 feet, and although no rain fell in this locality the raise was not unexpected. A great cloudburst north of Redding choked the stream, spreading the waters above both banks and clouding the river with a vast amount of debris. The red mud of the mountains came down with the river and the mains seemed to be filled with coffee rather than water. There was no disagreeable taste, although the appearance was anything but agreeable. Within the next 24 hours that coloring will have entirely disappeared.

The children of the public school were given a half holiday yesterday to permit them to visit the Liberty train in Sacramento. Nearly all the youngsters took advantage of the leisure time to visit the train, which was placed at Third and I streets.

Principal A. L. Case has answered his questionaire and is included in tn the draft soon to be called. The School Trustees hope he may be extended exemption, although Mr. Case has not asked for it. They know that some difficulty will be experienced in securing a man similarly qualified to fill his place.

Word from Romeo Barry from New York advises that he is still on the U. S. Huntington and well. He reports that New York is the greatest place in the world for entertainment, especially for the men in service. In the residence portion of the town "block dances" are held every evening when the weather permits. These dances are given by the residents of each block and soldiers and sailors are particularly welcome. The dances are held in the streets or on the sidewalks, young and old participating.

Charlie Mains has arrived in France and reports an enthusiastic welcome on the part of the French people. Evidently he is now close up to the front and may get a chance to go "over the top" any day. His sister, Mrs. Allerton, received the information.

The Pankost force of workmen is engaged getting ready the wood barges for winter business. The barge 6 will be ready in a day or two to convey wood from up-stream points to points down the river. Several tug boats are also being overhauled for this purpose.

Word has been received from J. Leonard (Pat) Glenn from Norfolk, Va., that only a few days ago he was promoted to the position of first class fireman. He is on board the hospital ship Mercy

Mrs. C. A. Newton left here today to spend several days with her daughter, Mrs. Stephen, in San Jose.

J. F. Leary, a cousin of Mrs. Alice Allerton, spent last Wednesday evening at her home on Elizabeth street. Leary hails from Cottonwood, but has been in the navy for over a year. He was on his return trip to his ship, the Chebaulns, at New Orleans after a furlough of 15 days. He was born in Sacramento, but was intimately acquainted in Washington. He left yesterday morning for San Francisco.

Word from Tom Eddy conveys the information that he has been promoted to the position of gun captain on the U. S. S. Wabash. A picture taken on board his ship shows him close up to the captain and wearing a wee bit of a moustache. He has made five trips across the Atlantic in the convoy service, and no doubt has had some experience with submarines.

G. Sousa is suffering with a bad scalp wound and a mashed hand. Last Tuesday he was helping unload a harvester from a barge at Natomas Warehouse No. 2 when the tractor pulling the harvester made a sudden start throwing up the guide pole. Sousa received the full benefit of the blow on his head and hand. During ten minutes he was non compos mentis and it took ten stitches to close the wound on his scalp. He is around again attending to his business.

Mrs. A. W. Baker of Riverbank has been taken to her home after a serious sick spell during which she was confined in a Sacramento hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Eugene are at their home after a trip to New York to visit their boy, Percy, who was threatened with a severe sickness.

Members of the Red Cross sewing circle are now putting in two afternoons of each week at their work in the school house. The sewing work starts as soon after one o'clock as the members can assemble. The fact that many young men from Washington are at the front is a magnificent spur for all the women of the town to help in the Red Cross work. No urging, however, has been necessary at any time because in every item of patriotism Washington has gone "over the top" with colors flying.

Mrs. A. Gill and Mrs. A. Stoll, old residents of Washington, spent last Sunday and Monday visiting old friends in this locality. Gill was formerly Justice of the Peace in Washington.

ANOTHER YOUNG WASHINGTON HERO HAS GIVEN HIS LIFE FOR HIS COUNTRY'S CAUSE

LESTER R. PALM SUCCUMBED TO BRONCHIAL PNEUMONIA AT PORTSMOUTH, VIRGINIA, LAST MONDAY, OCTOBER 8th.

At 10:35 p. m. last Monday night Lester R. Palm gave his life for his country's cause when death called him in the Naval Hospital at Portsmouth, Virginia.

The immediate cause of death was bronchial pneumonia.

These facts have been wired his parents by the U. S. Navy Department, but so far his relatives have received no details surrounding his sickness or death.

On the day the news of his death reached Washington a card was received by mail that he was feeling fine and had just returned from a trip to the West Indies. It seems that during the trip he nursed two ship mates who were suffering with the disease and contracted it from them. He was confined to his bed only four days and arrived at Portsmouth on September 27th.

Lester Palm was 23 years old on August 31st last. He was a big husky man and to all appearances a lease could have been taken on his life. With many other Washington boys he volunteered in the navy and was inducted on the 24th day of July, 1917.

After spending several months in training on the coast he was sent east on September 15, 1917, where he has served since that date.

His position in the navy was that of first class machinists mate on board the U. S. S. Vulcan.

Lester Palm had spent two and a half years with the S. P. Co. learning the trade of machinist before he enlisted. He was just on the eve of receiving his papers when he heard the call of his country.

He was born just south of Washington on the Sacramento River and was raised and educated in the town.

He was a popular young man of splendid habits and an endearing disposition. He was industrious and thrifty and made promise of a bright future.

It was these sterling qualities that make his loss all the harder to his parents and friends.

He is the first of the many boys who volunteered in the navy from Washington to make the great sacrifice. His is the second gold star that will decorate the service flag of the town, the first being that of Almer Norton who passed away a few months ago.

Besides has parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Palm, he leaves three brothers, Henry and Elmer of Sacramento and Walter of Marysville, and Mrs. H. Steen of Oak Park and Florence Palm of San Francisco, to mourn him.

Definite arrangements cannot be made for his funeral because the remains were shipped yesterday from Portsmouth and will not arrive till Friday, October 18th. In transit there is a possibility of delay so that any arrangements made at this time may be thrown out of connection.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN SHOWING AT THE GODARD THEATRE

"Uncle Tom's Cabin," the famous novel by Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, which, by its expose of the cruel treatment of negro slaves in the south, did much to bring on the Civil War, has been picturized by Paramount. With Marguerite Clark in the dual role of Little Eva and Topsy, the colored slave girl who "jest growed up," and Frank Losee as Uncle Tom, the screen version of this tale, read wherever English is known, will be presented for four days commencing this afternoon at Godard's J Street theater.

By the aid of multiple exposure photography, Miss Clark is seen in the same scenes as Eva, dainty bit of Dresden china, and Topsy, mischievous pickaninny. She had to change make-ups a hundred times during the taking of the picture. The original book and not the various stage versions was followed in making the photo-play. Many of the scenes were photographed in Louisiana, the old slave market in New Orleans forming the background for the sale of the slaves in the picture.

The story concerns the fortunes of Uncle Tom, a Kentucky slave "sold south" 'when his master becomes involved in debt. On the way down, he saves the life of Eva St. Clair, and is purchased by her father as a reward. He is well treated, and St. Clair is about to free him, when he dies suddenly. Tom is then sold to Simon Legree, who maltreats him so severely that Tom dies just as the son of St. Clair arrives to buy him and give him his freedom.

Ford Sterling, Chester Conklin and Mary Thurman are featured in the Mack Sennett comedy, "Beware of Boarders," which has to do with a too pretty wife, a German spy and a burglar. "Down South in New Zealand," a travel film; the latest Pathe weekly and special music by Organist Teague complete the bill.

LIBERAL CONTRIBUTION FROM FREEPORT DISTRICT

It isn't all the taxpayers of Yolo County who remembered that their purchases of Liberty Bonds should be credited to the county.

It was different the other day, however, when Frank Linggi of Freeport and his partner, J. Leinert, each took $1000 in bonds and paid cash for their purchases.

Each one specified that their contribution must be credited to Yolo County.

On business in Sacramento with the firm of Wood Curtis and Co., C. D. Robinson asked them if they had bought their Bonds.

Answering in the negative Robinson offered to sell them and they purchased immediately.

Linggi and Leinert are partners in farming in the Freeport district and have shown their loyalty to their country.

All other property owners of the county should do as they did even though they buy in Sacramento for convenience.

HELD TO ANSWER FOR ATTEMPTED BURGLARY

Last Friday forenoon Guadaloupe Gonzales and Domingo B. Rodriguez were seen prowling around the home of Mrs. Mabel Peterson at Third and Margaret streets by Mrs. O. P. Cook and Mrs. A. M. Cameron.

Their actions were very suspicious but it was not until they lifted a window by prying it opeen that the ladies took action.

They called to the intruders to stop and went after them as if to place them under arrest. Both broke and ran across the bridge to Sacramento with the ladies after them in an auto.

One was captured on Front near M street, but the other turned back to Washington and was caught in the brush along the levee by the two women.

They gave their ages at 18 and 20 years, respectively.

On Saturday morning their preliminary hearing was held before Judge Barry. District Attorney McDonald prosecuting.

On the testimony given by the two ladies the men were held to answer before the Superior Court.

Yolo people should be careful that the bean crop will not be on the list next, under the charge of being musical food.

Tobacco growers of Yolo County are about to cease their labors because their business is threatened by the reformers.

Dancing masters are not to be sent to France to teach the boys at the Front how to do the waltz-quadrille.

The Government has decided that the example set by the Germans will be sufficient teaching.

AN INJUSTICE AND AN EXAGGERATION

In one of the daily papers of Sacramento on Thursday, October 3d, there was published an article "Highway entrance to Sacramento untouched,' 'which conveyed the idea that from the end of the concrete road in West Sacramento to Sacramento the road is in the same condition as it was a year ago.

The writer of the article must either be blind or a malicious liar.

From the end of the concrete road in West Sacramento to both bridges two good roadways of "Solidite" pavement have just been completed.

To the S. P. bridge and to the M-street bridge two perfectly good roads have been built either at the expense of the State Highway Commission or at the expense of Yolo County or at the expense of West Sacramento.

Entrance from the west to Sacramento over two bridges is easy and comfortable for autoists.

Donation funds new K-9 unit

Yolo County Sheriff Ed Prieto announces the addition of another dog to the sheriff's department canine program. A donation from the Rumsey Indian Rancheria Tribal Council has funded the addition.

The donation pays for the purchase of a police dog, training for dog and handler, and the equipping of a sheriff's cruiser to accommodate the canine partner. The new dog/handler team will be the department's second team on duty, and is expected to aid in searches for missing or wanted persons, apprehension of criminals, crowd control, evidence searches and educational presentations at schools.

If this were a ranking for Olympic Hockey, we would be outraged.

It's time we became just as concerned with how well we compete in the classroom. The fact is, America's schools haven't kept pace with the rest of the world. Our standards are not high enough. Our teachers are undervalued. Our communities need to be more involved. But it's not too late to turn things around. In some places, it's already happening. Find out how together we can bring about the kind of improvement we desperately need. For a free booklet outlining how we can keep the promise of real education for all of America's children, call 1-800-96-PROMISE.
